Heat Pumps as Proof Point: Reducing Friction While Expanding Choice

Problem to Solve

- Heat pump water heaters are still relatively new to market
- Many plumbers default to standard tanks based on what they stock or can most easily source
- Limited access to qualifying HPWH models slows adoption, even when rebates are available

Retail Solution

- In WI and AZ, Lowe's has enabled HPWHs in the HEAR retail point-of-sale rebate pathway
- Lowe's stores stock qualifying HPWHs locally for immediate replacement needs
- Additional qualifying makes and models, in multiple tank sizes, are available online
- Direct-to-job-site shipping supports Pro customers and speeds installation timelines

What This Enabled

- Reduced friction at the moment of replacement
- Preserved customer and contractor choice without complicating the in-store experience
- Instant point-of-sale savings combined with product access drove faster uptake

How Contractor Coupons Can Reduce Friction and Expand Program Capacity

Problem Faced

- Cash flow and reimbursement timing limit contractor participation
- Many trade contractors lack access to appliances and electrification equipment
- Without a simple retail pathway, appliance and equipment upgrades can be excluded from projects

How Lowe's Can Support Contractor Pathways

- Contractor coupons issued only to state-approved contractor networks
- Lowe's fronts the discount with a defined reimbursement path
- Supports non-DIY categories (e.g., HVAC, insulation, electrical)
- In-store pickup or job-site delivery reduces delays

Benefits for Contractors

- Lowers upfront cost and logistics barriers
- Enables contractors to take on more projects at once
- Retail fulfillment for contractors enables appliance upgrades beyond traditional trade distribution
- Expands reach and delivery speed without weakening safeguards

Thank you!
